CALL TO WORSHIP

There are certain words, certain concepts, certain ideas which strike a resonant chord inside us, awakening us, deepening our breath, stirring us toward a renewed sense of whole-heartedness. The notion of 'Restoration' is just such a thing. The thought, the picture, the image of 'Restoration' captures what's been lost and what's been found all at once. It's the feeling of sunlight falling upon us after an endless night. Like the awakening from a bad dream. A return from exile. A release from captivity. A redemptive navigation home again. Job was restored in ancient times. Israel was restored to Jerusalem. The blind, in Jesus' day, were made to see again. What restoration means is there's been a visitation of grace. As we approach God today in reverence and in gratitude for this grace, let us feel the full power, the weight, and the beauty of restoration — remembering that God still does this very thing today.

LITANY

Leader: When the Lord restored the fortunes of Zion, we were like those who dream.

People: Let us arise, now fully awake.

Leader: And the Lord restored Job — blessing his latter days more than his beginning.

People: Dreamers awake to restoration.

Leader: Sight was given to the blind in Jesus' day.

People: Awake to vision restored.

Leader: Praise God who has restored us.

People: Praise God who shall ever restore us.

Leader: Like the light of the sun after an endless night.

All: Visit us with the grace of restoration. Amen.

PRAYER

God of Restoration, gather us up from the farthest parts of the earth — the blind, the lame, the sick, the sorrowing.
Bring us in from the dark — those in doubt, those in uncertainty,
those who are broken, those who are lost.
May those who sow in tears, reap with shouts of joy,
a great company restored.
Let us feel the cascade of gratitude in the potential of catastrophe sidestepped.

Open our eyes to walk anew along a straight path on which we shall neither stumble nor fall —
all obstacles which before seemed insurmountable, intractable, and existential — now gone.
Lead us by your pleasant brooks to the beauty of still waters to feel the relief and the grace of Your presence with us now.
In the name of Christ who restores and shall ever restore us. Amen.

BENEDICTION

The Lord blessed the latter days of Job more than his beginning. May we now go as Job, full of days. "Take heart, get up," Christ said to the blind. "For your faith has made you well." So let us therefore arise and be going, restored, visited by grace. May we go now with the blessings of restoration. May we go now with God's peace.

— GF
